1. Claim 20 is withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in Paper No. 4.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 7, the phrase "said applicator" lacks proper antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1, 2, 4, 5, 7-9, 11, 12, 14 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Young (5,056,932). Young discloses a bag/cover (10) comprising a flexible plastic sleeve (12) having a top wall, a bottom wall, two side walls and a rear wall connecting the top wall, the bottom wall and two side walls at a first end of the sleeve (Figure 5, right/top wall, left/bottom wall, two side walls and rear wall), a sleeve opening defined by the top wall, the bottom wall and the two side walls at a second end of the sleeve, and an applicator (14) formed from stiff plastic or paper material such as the paper stock used for the fabrication of milk cartons, and the like (column 4, lines 19-24) secured to the sleeve opening by adhesive (31) (column 4, lines 29-34). The applicator comprising a tubular member having a first opening secured to the sleeve opening and a second opening. The bag/cover of Young is inherently capable of receiving a hand-held electronic device.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 3, 6, 10, 13 and 15-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Young (5,056,932) in view of Ambler et al (4,838,327; hereinafter Ambler'327). Young discloses the bag/cover (10) as above having all the limitations of the claims except for the application being releasably secured to the sleeve opening. Ambler'327 shows a bag/cover (10) comprising a flexible plastic sleeve (12) and an applicator (14) is releasably secured to a sleeve opening (Figure 1). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art in view of Ambler'327 to modify the bag/cover of Young so the applicator is releasably secured to the sleeve opening to reduce the cost of manufacture by reusing the applicator with other bags/covers.
